

To Whom It May Concern,

It is my pleasure to recommend Mr. Swe Ching Maio. I had the privilege of teaching him in the course Advanced Analytics with Excel, and I can say without hesitation that mentoring him has been a rewarding experience.

Academically, Mr. Swe's journey was not without its challenges, but what stood out was his unwavering commitment to learning. He was among a rare few students who consistently pushed themselves to fully grasp the material to the best of their ability. His resilience and refusal to give up were truly admirable qualities that never wavered throughout the course, and I have every reason to believe these traits have defined his entire academic journey.

Beyond academics, Mr. Swe possesses a natural warmth and charisma that puts those around him immediately at ease. His presence brought energy and positivity to even the most demanding days. The ease with which he communicated and connected with his peers was remarkable, and it was precisely this quality that made me confident he would always step up when needed.

In him, I saw echoes of the finest leaders I have worked with, individuals who lead not through authority, but through genuine connection and dedication. I have no doubt that if Mr. Swe channels his efforts with intention, he will prove to be an outstanding leader in any organisation he joins. Recommending him is, without question, one of the easiest endorsements I have ever had the pleasure of giving.

Please feel free to contact me should you require any further information.

Sincerely,

Vasista Turlapati,
